

STUDIES AND RESEARCH

In collaboration with our customers and potential users, assisted by research centers and laboratories approved, our company spends at present a large budget to develop new products for applications in connection with strategic technology sectors.

Our experience allows us to offer you, if you feel the need, studies and implementation of new quality, depending on the features that you will put at our disposal.

We can also assist you in various application problems, you may be asked to meet at the use of mica powder.